

SOP 10.17 - Threats Against Persons and Security Emergencies SOP

The new 10.17 Threats Against Persons and Security Emergencies SOP replaces the existing 10.17 Sieges and Civil Disturbances – Response SOP. (last updated 2005)

Expanded to encompass threats against person / class 2 and security emergencies / class 3 emergencies more broadly and the procedure when a threat/security emergency develops mid-response.

- Realignments with inter-agency agreements for these incident types.
- Further safety measures during response, including upon approach and when on scene.
- Detail the capabilities and responsibilities of CFA personnel in hot/warm/cold zones, including potentially required assistance to Victoria Police and Ambulance Victoria.

NOTE – We have done our best to match the new SOP clauses with the old SOP however in some cases they do not match and the comparison is left blank.

Definitions

(27) Commonly defined terms are located in the CFA centralised glossary. Document-specific definitions are listed below.

Cold zone	In line with SEMP Class 3 Emergencies Sub Plan: the cold zone is the area beyond the perimeter where there is no known threat. This zone is a support area where police and emergency services can stage, plan, triage the injured and manage the evacuated in safety. It may include former Hot or Warm zone areas that police have both cleared and secured.
Warm zone	In line with SEMP Class 3 Emergencies Sub Plan: the warm zone or indirect threat area is an operational area within a hostile event where a potential threat exists but is not direct or immediate. This zone is a transition area that provides a safety buffer between the hot zone and cold zone. Rescue teams treat and remove the injured and those requiring evacuation from the warm zone to the cold zone.
Hot zone	In line with SEMP Class 3 Emergencies Sub Plan: the hot zone is where the offender is likely to be located. This zone is an exclusion area where only police enter to neutralise the threat. It has the highest potential for encountering danger and generally CFA members do not operate in this zone.
